THE JONESBOROUGH CENTEN-NIAL.

We commend the determination of the good people of Jonesborough to celebrate their centennial on the 3rd day of October. It will be an occasion of unusual interest, and all parts of Eastern Tennessee will doubtless be represented on the occasion. Postmaster General Key will be present and deliver an address, as will also H. M. Doak, Esq., of the Nashville American. Both will have much to say that will interest their audience. Indeed, we do not see how those in charge of the celebration could have made a better selection of speakers.

The occasion will be one calculated to arouse feelings and awaken recollections that will be shared class of people have a duty to per- soldiers fighting for the dearest and most and felt by all this section of the form, and we trust they will not cherished principles. The result in that State-in fact the whole State. neglect it. Jonesborough is situated in the centre of a territory that was the scene of many of the most interesting events in the history of our State, and it will be pleasant to hear these called back to memory and to see the many relics of an eventful past. We trust that Jonesborough may be overflowed with visitors on the occasion, and that the celebration may be what we believe it will-a complete success.

SOUTHERN BUSINESS MEN AND POLITICS.

We have seldom seen a more intelligent presentation of the relations sustained by Southern business men to politics, than the following from the Springfield Res

"It has not been the fashion down South for business men to take an interest in politics. Before the war the professional class and landed aristocracy were trained to political life. Since the war, the conservative business elements have not risen to the interest in political affairs which the welfare of the State demands, and to-day the South probably has more college grad- is said to be engaged to a Miss Hunnates and professional men in Con- tington, daughter of the President of gress proportionately than New Eng- the Central Pacific Railroad. land. Buch is the late and our position on all questions thoroughly understood. We will wear no man's yoke, will be the than money, namely, capital and skill of development. What the South wants is capital, actual resources, not mere money or banking facilities.

Between these two classes,—the conservative plan of always hard-up, constitutionally in always hard-up, constitutionally in debt, intensely prejudiced and convinced that something ought to be done about it, and the class of small politicians and buildozers,-it is time the business class, the men of sufficient breadth of view to look beyond the county lines, the delivered the most interesting admen who sometimes go to Boston or dress of the campaign this evening, to Baltimore or St. Louis to buy goods, to the Republican Club, in Grange who carry the railroads, who manage the corporate interests and who have Hall. He showed up the policy of the solid South Democrats in the preservation of peace and the development of prosperity, it is time for this class to come forward and take their true place in Southern affaire. As a rule they district the aggravation of sectional feelings. They were alarmed rather than gratified by the absurd course of the Democracy during the last session of Congress, and they were gratified rather than alarmed, when Mr. Hayes finally acceded to the Presidency in 1877. It is not too much to say that they view the election of Mr. Tilden to the Presidency with aversion, and Democrats, though they are, they would as a Cabinet officer recently remarked, look upon the re-election of Gen. Grant with a genuine sense of security.

"The fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact illustrates the timidity and freehness of the business class of the presidency in the fact of the president of the pres really the greatest stake in the preser- the solid South Democrats in the

> Fourteen Months for the Price of One Year.

From now until November, 1880, will be one of the most exciting periods in the political history of this Republic. On the 14th day of next month, the people of Ohio will elect a Governor and other State officers. Heretofore, parties have been very evenly divided there, which, together with the important influence which the result is to have upon the great Presidential contest of next year, gives the contest a national interest, and its decision will be regarded with deep concern in every nook and corner of the Union. Two strong tickets are in the field, and the battle is being waged with a vigor which shows that each party fully appreciates the prize for which they are striving.

In November, the great State of New York will elect a Governor, State officers and a Legislature. This too is a contest of the highest National importance. The Democrats for several years have been in the ascendancy there, but they are now disturbed by internal There are enough responsible busi- dissensions, which, together with the disadvantage at which they are placed by being held responsible for the policy inaugurated by their leaders in Congress, gives would interest themselves in politics the Republicans great encouragement. as they should do, could insure the This, together with a thorough conviction of the righteousness of their cause, inspires them with courage and confidence, for all parties, and great good and they are determined to contest every every inch of the ground with that resolute State will be looked to all over the Nation election. The giants of both political parties, all over the Nation, will take part in the contest and the issues involved will be ably and thoroughly discussed. Elections will also be held in November, in Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Minnesota, The difference between an umbrella Massachuetts and Pennsylvania. Never before has a greater interest been felt in the result of a national lection, so far in advance of the time at which it is to be held, than now exists. In addition to the national issues, around which will centre so much of public interest, in Tennessee we will have a State election next fall. Without any sort of exaggeration, this will be the most mportant of any ever held in the State. The repudiation wing, which is a majority of the Democratic party, is marshalling its hosts for a final charge against the credit, honor, integrity and good name of the Volunteer State. If they succeed, we are ruined and disgraced. They propose to place in the field a full ticket for Governor and members of the Legislature, composed of men committed to the policy of repudiating a large proportion of the State debt. They will be met by the State credit men, and a desperate effort will be Some of the Tammany delegates to made to rescue Tennessee from the control of those who would bring upon her everasting ruin and irretrievable disgrace. No Tennes cean can fail to feel a deep interest the result of our next State election. In view of these interesting political events, every intelligent man in the Union wants to read regularly at least one live, reliable political newspaper. Such we will make the DAILY CHRONICLE and the WEEKLY WHIG AND CHRONICLE. We intend that our readers shall know all It is rather a novel, if not unprece- the day, and, in addition, we expect to take an active part in the discussion of all organ of no particular ring or clique, but expect to labor for the success of Republican principles with a zeal inspired by the earnest conviction that we are right.

This Sarsaparilla is a combination of vegetable alteratives - Stillingia, Mandrake, Yellow Dock — with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most efficacious medicine yet known the diseases it is intended to cure.

Its ingredients are so skilfully com-bined, that the full alterative effect of each is assured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out from the system those impurities and corruptions which develop into loathsome disease. The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it, prove their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alterative medicine. So generally is its superi-ority to any other medicine known, that we need do no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained. PREPARED BY
